Burning House Project

May 11-14

P.W

If your house was burning, what five things would you take? It's a conflict between what is practical, valuable, and sentimental. What you would take often reflects your values, backgrounds, interests and priorities. We know that our values, interests, and priorities reflects what we choose to do as a career, how we spend our money, how we save our money, and how we value our time. Will you choose things that are valuable money wise or valuable because they are irreplaceable!?

Directions:

You will choose FIVE things that you would take from your house if it were burning. You will place these 5 things into ONE creative picture. In writing, explain why you chose each item, and how the item represents your values, interests, or priorities. You will send a copy of the picture and your written explanation. Also, choose a song that represents who you are. This can be a song that you listened to growing up, has a sentimental meaning for you, a song that you listen to when you are down or are trying to pump yourself up! Send me a link to the song. In writing, provide a written explanation that explains why you chose the song, how does it represent your values, priorities, interests!
